Dear Stan:

It was a real pleasure to see and chat with you a few minutes at the American Academy of Achievement. This is my second year to attend representing The Coca-Cola Company and I must say the Reynolds do a superb job and all you have to do is look at the expressions on the youngsters' faces and read the letters of thanks after they return home. Our great free enterprise system needs more of this type of activity.

Many thanks for sending me the Soviet Economic Problems and Prospect. It made fascinating reading to me and I am turning it over to Bob Broadwater who is the man in charge of the expansion of our business into the Soviet Union.

Trust our paths will cross again in the near future.

Best regards,
